WOMEN HERE CONSIDER NEW LEGISLATION

LOCAL CLUB MEMBERS HEAR MRS. FREDERICKS

Proposed Bills Outlined by Brilliant Feminine Leader.

The Woman's Club met Thursday, March 1st, in Lodge Hall. The special feature of the afternoon was an address by Mrs. Fredericks, president of the San Francisco district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Fredericks congratulated the club upon its selection of a clubhouse site and told briefly of some unique ways of raising money for the fund.

She next outlined briefly some of the bills which the federation indorses and supports out of the 2600 bills which are now before the California legislature. Among these are the

OPEN COLUMN POLICY WINS APPROVAL OF ALL

Enthusiasm greeted the open column editorial announcement in the last week's issue of The Enterprise.

The spirit of the following editorial should prevail at all times:

"Realizing the rapidly increasing industrial activities in South San Francisco, The Enterprise is making considerable changes in the publication's make-up.

"The editor of The Enterprise wants every man, woman and child in this community to feel that the columns of the paper are open to them, and that any proposition which will work to the general advantage of the community will be boosted and aided in the best journalistic style and in the manner adopted by the leading papers of national merit.

"The Enterprise desires to impress upon the minds of the residents here that this paper is a semi-public institution, ready to publish the legitimate news at any cost irrespective of whom it may affect.

"The co-operation and confidence of the public is vital. Should you have anything of interest to say, put it in writing and mail it to the editor, who will treat the matter with due consideration.

"The Enterprise is ready to devote special columns to social, personal, factory, labor, fraternal, club, hotel, school and other notes should the readers take advantage of supplying the paper with information along these lines.

"If you have a personal or other note of interest, write it and see that it reaches the hand of the editor, who will gladly have the item appear in the following edition of the paper."

Mrs. Money's Nephew Killed During Storm

Alvin Huber, aged 15, nephew of Mrs. Walter Money of this city, lost his life during the heavy rainstorm last Saturday at San Jose, where he resided with his parents.

The lad, who formerly lived in South San Francisco, fell through the railing of the San Salvador street bridge into the swift waters of the Guadalupe creek. At the time of the fatality there were about six boys on the bridge. The lads were all engaged in spearing and roping driftwood as it swirled by on the crest of the current.

From what can be learned, young Huber had his rope tied firmly about his left wrist to ward off the possibility of its slipping out of his hand. He is said to have fastened to a large floating log rapidly approaching the bridge. In a twinkling the log was under the structure, jerking the boy off his feet and dragging him headlong through a wide opening caused by the absence of the center board in the railing.

Alvin Huber was a boy of likable traits and a sunny disposition that won him a host of friends. He lived with his parents at 470 Orchard street and attended the Lincoln grammar school. He was considered one of the brightest and most promising boys and held high honors in the low eighth grade, to which he was recently promoted. While not a member of the Y. M. C. A., he attended frequently and was a swimmer of considerable merit among boys of a far more advanced age.

J. A. Huber, the victim's father, is proprietor of the Central Market delicatessen store, San Jose.

High School Notes Told by Charles A. Sands

The basketball season having closed, the local high school students have now centered their attention on the approaching baseball season. During the basketball season the local team made a very good showing, considering their size and the limited number of pupils to choose from. They practiced during the whole season with not much outside coaching, and their coaching then was directed by an occasional visitor from another school. Their local coaching was done by G. E. Britton, principal of the local school, and he deserves much credit for the manner in which he kept the pupils in shape by their after-school games. During the season five games were played with outside schools as scheduled by the league, and the local team is credited with one game and four lost. The games lost were with San Mateo, Palo Alto, Redwood City and Campbell. All of these schools are considerably larger and have better equipped gymnasiums than the local school. The students, however, look forward with great joy to the day when they can occupy the new high school which is now being constructed, with its large gymnasium which is fully equipped. The one game credited to the local team is the game forfeited by Santa Clara. The line-up of the team who tried their best to defend the name and honor of the school is: Ralph Woodman, center; Angelo Scampini and Byrne McSweeney, guards; James Smith and Joe Mahoney, forwards. David Farrell and Leo Graziani were substitutes.

Although weather conditions seriously hindered practicing last week, the local students have made up for it this week. The students eagerly await the coming day when they can cross bats with the San Mateo high baseball team. According to the games scheduled by the league, the local team will play San Mateo on March 24th, on the local grounds. This will be the opening game of the baseball season, and the students are trying to their best ability to be duly prepared to defend their name and leave the field victorious. The business manager, Byrne McSweeney, was instructed to purchase three baseball and inquire into the prices of baseball suits, which they are expecting to purchase also.

SYSTEM OF STREET NUMBERS FAVORED

A system of street numbers is being favored by the Chamber of Commerce, which problem is now being taken up with the municipal authorities.

Judge Cunningham brought the matter to the attention of the organization, which immediately placed itself on record as favoring the proposition.

Dr. F. S. Dolley reported that much time was lost in visiting sick patients because of the fact that no numbering system prevails.

W. J. Martin declared that in the event of the installation of a mail delivery street numbers were imperative.

CLUBHOUSE PLANS ENTHUSE CITIZENS

That considerable progress had been made in creating enthusiasm for a proposed clubhouse and gymnasium to be erected here, was the report made by G. Carl, resident manager of the Enterprise Foundry, to the Chamber of Commerce.

Carl's statement was greeted with enthusiasm, and all agreed to assist the project in the hope of having the clubhouse become a reality in the near future.

WAR DEPARTMENT REVIEWING CITY

The war department is now reviewing the resources of South San Francisco in an effort to ascertain just what this municipality could do in the way of assisting the nation in the event of hostilities.

The war department has requested the Chamber of Commerce to make a careful survey of everything this community possesses which could be utilized in time of war. A special committee, headed by Judge Cunningham, is making this important patriotic of the government.

HIGHWAY SIGNS TO AID AUTOMOBILIST

South San Francisco will soon be visited by more autoists than ever before because of special signs to be placed at the various highway entrances to this city, which will designate how to reach this community.

Action along these lines was taken at the chamber of commerce meeting when Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, who chanced to be present, declared that he would see to it that the requisite signs would be made and placed where they would do the most good.

CHAMBER ASSISTS LOCAL BAND BOYS

The local band will now receive the financial assistance of the local Chamber of Commerce. Upon the statement of Dr. McGovern, who informed the members of the needs of the band, the organization voted to contribute $10 a month for a period of six months. At the expiration of that time, it is hoped that the band will be self-supporting.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMANDS

ORGANIZATION FORCES MEMBERSHIP STRENGTH

Roll of Honor Reaches High Point of 82; Prospects Bright.

Twenty new members have been added to the honor roll of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

This means that the local organization of boosters now has eighty-two members.

The membership thermometer of the Chamber of Commerce, as designed by The Enterprise, indicates that the organization is far above "enthusiastic heat," which is fixed at seventy-five members.

There is every indication that the "boiling point" of 100 members will be reached by the time of the next chamber meeting, two weeks hence.

The membership committee is headed by Judge Cunningham, who personally reported that he had succeeded in getting thirteen new members. He explained that every person that he had asked to join willingly did so.

The names of the new members follows: Bonalanza Bros., J. J. Jennings, G. Beltrami, J. Ingram, Ghilardi & Angiolini, O. E. Calzia, S. Gianella, Vincenzini Bros., Henry Minucciani, N. Grannuchini, Roll & McGrath, N. Liameuhinni, Chas. N. Steurmann, Neri Bros., Daniel Garle, George A. Britton, T. L. Hickey, A. G. Bissett, N. A. Becker, H. Martens (Enterprise Foundry).

DUMBARTON BRIDGE LEADERS AT WORK

That the leaders of the Dumbarton bridge movement were hard at work despite many obstacles placed in the path of achievement by Oakland, San Jose and Los Angeles force, was the report made by W. J. Martin, president of the Dumbarton Bridge Highway Association, to the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

Martin explained some of the legal difficulties involved and told of the hostile attitude of communities that did not care to do anything which would help the Peninsula.

MRS. SARAH INGRAM SUMMONED TO APPEAR AS TRIAL JUROR

Mrs. Sarah Ingram of South San Francisco is among twenty-five trial jurors who have been summoned to appear for service in the San Mateo county superior court next Monday.

The Kitchen Cupboard

THE SALAD BOWL.

PERFECTION SALAD.—One envelope of gelatin, one pint of boiling water, one cupful of finely shredded cabbage, the juice of one lemon, one-half cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of celery cut into small pieces, two sweet red peppers cut up finely, one teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful each of cold water and mild vinegar. The method of making is as follows: The gelatin is soaked in the cold water for five minutes; then the vinegar, boiling water, salt, sugar and lemon juice are brought to a boil, poured over the soaked gelatin and the whole strained. When beginning to set, the other ingredients are added and the entire mixture put into a mold to chill. When ready to serve the salad is topped with mayonnaise.

Banana Croquette Salad.—A dainty way to serve the nutritious banana is to peel and cut in halves across the fruit. Take a fork and dip the bananas in mayonnaise dressing, then in equal parts of chopped walnuts and pecan nuts. Serve on lettuce leaves with a few of the nuts for garnish. Three-quarters of a cupful of chopped nuts will bread three bananas.

Egg Lilies.—Carefully cut the whites of hard boiled eggs down lengthwise and curve back to form petals. At the base of each petal put a drop of deep yellow mayonnaise, make a tiny indentation and fill with grapefruit cross ways; scoop out the hulls. Line the hulls with lettuce and fill with chicken salad; garnish with candied cherries and salmi rings. Serve in a bed of endive, with mayonnaise. Put the meat of the grapefruit in the refrigerator and serve next morning in glasses for breakfast.

Supreme Salad.—One package lime gelatin, juice of one lemon, one small green pepper finely cut, one cupful finely shredded cabbage, two cupfuls celery chopped, one-fourth can pimientos, finely cut. Dissolve and add flavor according to directions on package. Mix ingredients and lemon juice together and add when gelatin is partly set. This to be molded and served with any salad dressing desired.

Avocado and Tomato Salad.—Cut an avocado pear lengthwise in half inch bars; make a square pen of these and fill with tomatoes cut in small pieces, mixed with an equal amount of chopped celery. Dress all with French dressing.

SEVEN DEADLY DON'TS RULE COURTSHIPS

The following masterpiece was submitted to the editor for publication to aid the lovesick. Here's hoping that some local beaux may benefit:

1.—Don't "mush." That is, don't hug and squeeze and kiss all the girls before marriage. You'll tire of it too soon when you are married.

2.—Don't try to rush matters or seem over-anxious. It does more harm than good if you call on her every night in the week.

3.—Don't get her a ring she will be ashamed of. Strike an average somewhere between one she would turn in and one that can be seen a block away.

4.—Don't dangle other girls in front of your sweetheart just to show her there are others. Cut out the others and concentrate on one.

5.—Don't be a parlor or porch decoration and nothing else. Take her to a theatre, buy her candy, bring her flowers, show you're alive.

6.—Don't marry for money, or on love at first sight, or if there is too much difference in your ages, or if you are in poor health.

7.—Don't forget her mother. If she's the right kind of a girl she'll heed her mother's advice and you will need a friend at court.

Gauzy as a Butterfly's Wings

It is impossible to describe the shimmering beauty of this debutante's wrap, all glowing with rose tinted metal cloth draped in silvery lace, festooned with wreaths of French roses and worn over an evening frock of tulle built in fluffs of tiers. The ermine collar is almost overwhelmed by the exquisite beauty of the garment.

Navy blue and emerald green is a mixture which occurs in many of the new gowns, the green being sparingly used; the skirt has little of it, nor the coat, save at the collar, but when this dark, businesslike affair is thrown back it reveals plenty of the contrasting green about the bodice, and a very dressy toilet is the result.

Slippers and low shoes for spring are enhanced by bows of ribbon velvet instead of by the usual buckle ornament. ANNA MAY.

"Please take me to the palace."

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—WHAT THE CROW TOLD GERDA

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

JACK and Evelyn dragged daddy's chair up to the fireplace so he might begin the bedtime story. "You can just imagine how glad Gerda was when an old crow began to tell her where her missing playmate Kay was," said daddy.

"My sweetheart was in the palace and told me all about it," the crow told Gerda. "The young chap that came to get the princess' hand just marched past the lackeys standing in gold liveries on the stairs. He wasn't the least bit afraid. He simply told them that it was tiresome standing there and that he was going inside."

"The rooms were blazing with lights. Courtiers were running about carrying gold vessels. The young man's boots creaked fearfully, but he wasn't the least bit afraid."

"Oh, I am sure that was my Kay!" cried Gerda. "I know he had a new pair of boots when he vanished from home, for I saw him wearing them."

"How his boots did creak!" the old crow went on. "But, not a bit afraid, he went straight up to the princess, who was sitting on a great pearl as big as a spinning wheel. Poor boy! All the court ladies with their attendants, the courtiers and their gentlemen, each one attended by a page, were all standing about the princess' pearl. The nearer they stood the prouder they were. Even the footman's boy, who always wore slippers, stood in the doorway and was too proud to be looked at."

"It must have been awful!" said Gerda.

"My sweetheart at the palace told me he was the picture of good looks and gallantry," said the crow. "You see, he had not come to the palace with any idea of wooing the princess, but of hearing her words of wisdom. He admired her just as much as she did him."

"Then it must have been my Kay," cried Gerda, "for he was so clever he could do mental arithmetic way up into fractions. Oh, won't you please take me to the palace?"

"It is easy enough for you to talk," said the crow. "But really, now, how are we going to manage it? I will ask my tame sweetheart about it, and doubtless she will have something to offer. But I feel bound to tell you that they will never let a little girl like you inside the palace."

"Indeed they will!" answered Gerda. "When Kay hears I am there he will come right out and fetch me in."

"Then wait for me by the stile," said the crow. And he wagged his black head and flew off.

FRATERNAL ORDERS

Improved Order of Red Men.

(By George W. Hagedorn.)

BROTHERHOOD.

It's the kindly hearts of earth that make
The good old world worth while.
It's the lips with tender words that wake
The care-erasing smile.
And I ask myself this question when my friendly gifts I see—Am I a friend to as many men as have been good friends to me?

When my brothers speak a word of praise
My wavering will to aid,
I ask if ever their long, long ways
My words have brighter made.
And to my heart I bring again this eager, earnest plea—Make me a friend to as many men as are good, staunch friends to me.

The Improved Order of Red Men is a powerful factor along fraternal lines, with over half a million members throughout our land with a record for benevolence and friendship second to none.

Strictly fraternal and benevolent in its character, the order teaches lessons that elevate and instill into the hearts and minds of its members true friendship, patriotism and the care for our dependents, as well as the good traits of the aboriginal North American Indian.

Brotherhood of American Yeomen.

One of the greatest acquisitions of the master mind was when the brotherhood of man conceived and erected the model structure known as fraternal insurance, realized upon a business foundation of justice, impartality and adaptability, so that every family can provide for the protection it most needs in any measure it thinks best, preserving its honest independence, and yet bearing its share in protecting others as it is itself protected by others.

The membership of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen up to January 1, 1917, was 233,670.

During the year just closed it shows a net profit on its assets of 11 1/2 per cent, beginning the year with $3,400,- 147.37 and ending it with $3,782,326.08
—a net gain of $382,178.71. A marvelous record for a twenty-year-old fraternal society that operates on as low an insurance rate as the Yeomen does.

Preparations are under way for a big campaign in San Mateo county.
District Deputies are out to help push the ball around and expect to roll up a big score.

REV. PAUL SMITH ON TOUR AGAINST VICE

Rev. Paul Smith, leader of the movement in San Francisco against commercialized vice, has been instructed by the executive committee of the San Francisco church federation, of which he is president, to make a speaking campaign through the state to focus the attention of the people of California on the problems recently raised in San Francisco and other cities.

The particular object of the trip is to stir up public interest in a bill to be introduced in the legislature for a state rehabilitation farm for women.
Under the existing vagrancy laws
there is no approvable judicial method of dealing with the common prostitute. The only penalty is a jail sentence or a fine.

New York state has for fifteen years maintained a similar institution at Bedford Hills. Pennsylvania and other eastern states have adopted this method of repression and rehabilitation.

The main object of this speechmaking trip, however, is to make public the political and financial connections of the exploiter, the third party in prostitution, who has made the system a business and derives enormous profits from its continuance. Dr. Smith's itinerary will cover:

Sacramento, Monday, March 19th.
Fresno, Tuesday, March 20th.
Bakersfield, Wednesday, March 21st.
Los Angeles, Thursday, March 22d.
San Diego, Friday, March 23d.

MARY PICKFORD
AT HER GREATEST

It seems almost unbelievable that a great star can go on eclipsing her previous performances upon the screen time after time, but Mary Pickford's appearance in the Famous Players-Paramount picture, "The Eternal Grind," which is the feature at the Royal Theatre for Thursday, March 8th, will unquestion-ably be pronounced her greatest endeavor by public and critics alike.
When Miss Pickford starred in "The Foundling" it was almost universally declared to be her finest impersonation.
When she followed that with "Poor Little Peppina," that was hailed as the greatest hit of all.

But in both of these characterizations Miss Pickford appeared as a victim of circumstances—as an immature child whom fate had fastened upon as a sort of football to be kicked about at will.
In these roles she won our sympathy.
In "The Eternal Grind" Miss Pickford is a very mature young lady—prematurely ripened by hard work in the factory—whose indomitable will, fearlessness, resolution, ingenuity and forceful personality compel our admiration as well as our sympathy. It is this new note of power which Miss Pickford strikes in coping with the great crises which she faces that will win for "The Eternal Grind" the verdict of "the greatest she has ever done."
There are big scenes in the film—big in their gripping power and in their dramatic force—which make it absorbingly interesting from start to finish. One of the most powerful is that in which Mary—the role so artfully played by the star—finds that the youth who is making love to her has already betrayed her younger and more frivolous sister, Amy. Suspecting Ernest of duplicitly, Amy has followed him to Mary's lodgings armed with a revolver.

When Mary realizes the situation, she snatches the gun from her sister and forces Ernest to remain where he is until a minister is found. Then, concealed behind the curtains, she presses the revolver against Ernest's back while he goes through the marriage ceremony with Amy.

There is another sister in the story,
Jane, an invalid, for whose life Mary sacrifices everything in her power.
Ernest has a brother, Owen, a big,
clean-living chap, whose heart goes out to this courageous young girl and to the people whom she represents. He goes to work in his father's factory as a laborer and is nearly killed when the dilapidated floor of the building caves in, causing a terrible panic among the workers. There are other big and interesting characters in the film, all of whom are enacted by clever players.
Loretta Blake, Dorothy West, John Bowers, Robert Cain and J. Albert Hall are among those who appear in support of Miss Pickford in this Famous Players' production, which was directed by John O'Brien.

START THINGS.

Already the newly reorganized Chamber of Commerce is beginning to stir up things in South San Francisco by showing signs of real life.

The meeting of the chamber, which was held last Tuesday night at the city hall, revealed that the members were "taking hold" of civic problems in a spirit which is destined to spell big results.

The local chamber has already started more "balls a-rolling" within less than one month's time than other organizations accomplish in years.

Some organizations never do anything. The members talk, but don't try. The local body has already proved to be above that brand. Attend one of the meetings and find out for yourself. The more members the merrier. Be with the throng that is doing something.

Among the betterments which the Chamber of Commerce is working on can be found the following civic needs:

RECREATION PARK.
CLUBHOUSE AND GYMNASIUM.
DUMBARTON BRIDGE.
STREET NUMBER SYSTEM.
MOTOR SIGN POSTS.

PRACTICAL FARM CO-OPERATION.

This is admittedly the age of improved machinery and advanced methods in farming. No longer is it possible for the man who farms by the old methods and with the old tools of our fathers to compete with his more progressive neighbor. If he undertakes it he is sure to go down in defeat.

But right at this point the advocate of advanced methods and improved machinery is met with a staggering opposition. Thousands of small farmers tell him point blank that they can not afford the great outlay of money necessary to stock their farms with the latest labor-saving implements.

And it is the solemn truth. They can't afford it. It would bankrupt them to undertake it.

What, then, is the answer.

One word—CO-OPERATION! Co-operation in buying and using the more expensive implements.

Consider the number of days in the year you would use a wheat drill, or a disk plow or harrow, or a binder or mower, or any one of a large number of implements that are absolutely essential to successful farming to-day. The United States department of agriculture has figured this out, and the result is calculated to make one think twice—and then again. The department estimates that on the average small or medium sized farm the following implements are used annually the following number of days and fractions thereof: Walking plow, 19.2; sulky plow, 14.7; spring-tooth harrow, 6.6; spike-tooth harrow, 3.1; disk harrow, 4.2; grain drill, 4.6; land roller, 4.7; corn planter (1 row), 1.9; corn planter (2 row), 3; corn cultivator (1 row), 4.1; corn cultivator (2 row), 5.6; mower, 3.1; hay rake, 2.6; grain binder, 3.4.

It will easily be seen that unless a man is so well-to-do that he could afford to have capital tied up and lying idle, the plea of the small farmer that he can not afford the modern tools is the sober truth.

But there is a remedy in co-operative ownership. In fact, the plan is in operation in many sections of the country and is found to work admirably.

A glance at the list will convince any one that there is not an implement there that could not be shared between two or three farmers, and many could be made to do service for five or six—some, even, for a much larger number.

What, then, is the necessity for each one burdening himself with a heavy outlay to provide all of the needed tools when the burden can just as well be distributed among a number with the same satisfactory results?

Aren't there a number of farmers in this community who could profit by this plan?

If you do not want a partnership ownership, fearing possible disputes and resultant ill feeling, let one buy a corn planter, another a drill, and so on down the list. Then lend back and forth, and you get the same results. But make it co-operative, decide in advance just what tool each is to buy, and GET EVERYTHING THAT WILL REDUCE YOUR EXPENSE AND INCREASE YOUR YIELD.

Think this suggestion over, friends. One or two or three hundred dollars saved on equipment could be well invested in livestock and other crying necessities on many farms.

It is safe to say that no other class of people in the county carry as much "dead" capital as do the farmers—the very class who can least afford it.

The logical way to release this capital and put it to work is through co-operation as above outlined.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

False Security.

Nations are like individuals—they often imagine themselves immune from danger right at the time when they are in the greatest jeopardy. It is so with the United States to-day. There is a lull in the German situation, Japan has nothing to say for a few weeks and Mexico appears to be taking a siesta. Hence, without looking beneath the surface, we jump to the conclusion that "everything is fine and the dove is flirting with the American eagle." But just before every disastrous storm there is a lull, with scarcely a ripple on the water, with not a leaf stirring. We appear to be indifferently sleeping in such a lull to-day, giving no heed to the tempest that may be roaring to-morrow. And in the end we will pay the price of our folly.

100,000 Spies.

Newspaper reports sent broadcast over the country from Washington tell us that there are a hundred thousand spies of foreign governments in the United States, and that these people are daily collecting information of our defensive measures and forwarding that information to their home governments. If there are that number of spies in this country our own government officials must be aware of the identity of at least a portion of them. And if their identities are known, why is it that they are still at large and pursuing their despicable calling to the detriment of the United States? Why are they not behind the bars, where they should be, and where they would be if it were any other country but ours? We do not need traitors or spies in this country, and the sooner they are kicked out or jailed or hanged the better it will be for our own welfare. The man who can not respect and protect our flag and our country has no legitimate place in our midst, and we do not want him. Get out!

Universal Service.

A year ago only a handful of people could be found who were in favor of universal military service. Now the man who opposes such service is the exception. Americans are essentially a fair-minded people when facts are brought fairly to their attention, and this fact has been amply exemplified in the tremendous change of national sentiment regarding universal service. Daily papers of the great cities assert that the principal objection to universal service comes from the rural districts. But the daily papers are wrong. The young men of our own community are on a par with those of other rural districts, and yet we unhesitatingly assert that nowhere in this broad land will be found a more unified or patriotic sentiment than that which exists in the hearts of our young men. If the best interests of the country demand that each one, rich and poor alike, shall serve his six months in a training camp, then when the time comes we will find them stepping briskly to the front, with heads erect and eyes upon the flag of freedom. There will be no shirking, or quibbling, or hanging back on the part of OUR young men.

Watch Edison!

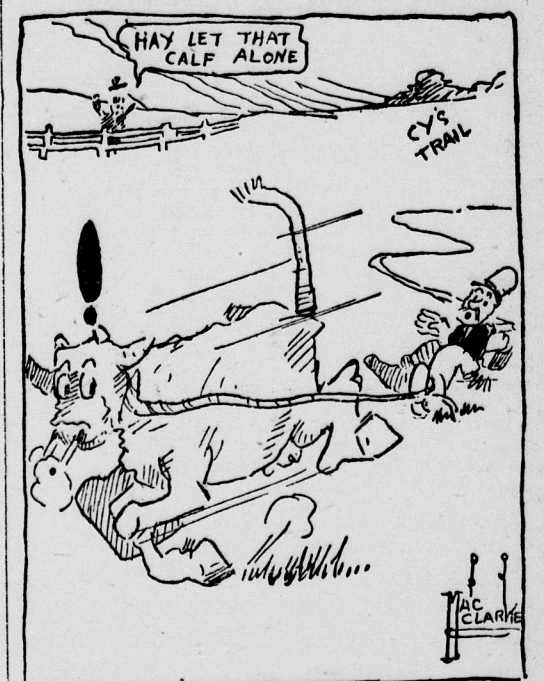

A year or so ago it was announced that if this nation is forced into war Thomas A. Edison would spring a new implement of warfare of incalculable value to our country and its defenders. We are even now on the brink of war, and Edison is in his secret laboratory with an armed guard around him day and night. Watch Edison!

And the Women, Too.

The imminence of war for this country has brought our women to the front with a rush. Noble women! There never was anything on this earth to compare with them. Hundreds of thousands of them in all parts of the

The fourth annual St. Patrick's dance of Court Violet, Independent Order of Foresters, will be held two weeks from to-night at Metropolitan Hall. The music will be furnished by Al Margraf, and all looks well for the celebration of March 17th.

The work on the pipe line to supply the Pacific steel plant with oil is nearing completion. The line is more than one-half built. Favorable weather conditions are hastening the task, which for a time was halted during the recent storm.

Wm. L. Hickey, our local plumber, who has the contract for the plumbing work on the new high school, has been given $1000 by the school board as part payment, his work being found satisfactory by the architect, Mr. Weeks.

The grand ball for the benefit of the local union band will be held to-night at Metropolitan Hall. The music, under the direction of A. L. Cappelli, will be exceptionally good. A large crowd will be on hand to enjoy the affair and to assist the musical boys in their work.

The industrial exhibit of the Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of the E. C. Peck Company, is proving as great an attraction as ever. More than 2500 persons have visited the exhibit here, which for a time was successfully displayed in San Francisco, where thousands upon thousands viewed it with much interest.

The parcels post social sale and social given by the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church Wednesday evening was a grand success, socially and financially. PROSECUTORS OF STATE HONOR SWART FOR THIRD TIME.

District Attorney Franklin Swart of this county was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the district attorneys' association, which convened at Fresno last week. This makes the third time that Swart has been honored by his fellow district attorneys in being chosen for this important position and shows the high esteem in which he is held by the association.

Swart reported that the convention this year was one of the most successful ever held, it being attended by practically every district attorney in the state.

community property act, the inheritance tax bill and bill No. 602 in the assembly, which provides 1000 acres of land for vocational training to enable mentally defectives to become self-supporting. This bill is very important to California. She next spoke of bill No. 32 in the senate, concerning women as jurors, explaining that household duties exempted any woman from jury service.

Among the bills which the federation is supporting are the homestead bill, the bill allowing orphans state aid until they are of working age (16 years). This will probably pass, as at present orphans are allowed state aid until 15 years of age. Other bills are the non-employment of minors; a bill prohibiting the use of firearms for children under 14 years; also a bill that 18 years be the minimum age for granting a chauffeur's license, and lastly the bill providing state aid for junior colleges. This latter measure would establish a two-year course in addition to the high school course, and thus relieve the congestion in the first two years of the university work.

Fill In Picture Puzzle No. 2

As you have found out already, you drew an elephant when you drew picture No. 1. All you young people no doubt have seen him at the circus or in the zoo when he is tame. When angry his great strength makes his keepers tremble for their lives. It is fascinating to watch this animal sweep up articles with his trunk. Now, here is another puzzle cut. Start at 1 and let your pencil move to 2, 3, 4, 5, etc., and the picture of another well known object will be your reward.

PENALTY OF PROSPERITY BRINGS HIGHER LIVING COST

William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, has written the following timely article on the increased cost of living and how to solve the problem to a considerable extent:

The high price of food is accounted for by the law of supply and demand. The United States has for a long time produced more food supplies of nearly all kinds than the people of the United States consumed. The production in excess of home consumption has been ended abroad and our production has become part of the common stock of food supplies for countries across the sea. Now those countries are mostly at war, an important part of their population becoming consumers instead of producers, as they are in peaceful times. The United States is a party of the family of nations. We cannot live apart unto ourselves even if we wish to do so.

The very prosperity this country is enjoying in general has its penalties. We are exporting food as well as munitions, and in exchange for them we are getting gold. We cannot eat gold. But we can increase production, and the problem of the high cost of living can be solved only by increasing the area of production or increasing the production from existing available areas through better methods, or by both.

The cost of living will be excessive as long as we are all eating our fill of eggs, broiled chicken, roast veal, lamb chops and sirloin steak. Veal means the slaughter of the young animal, instead of allowing it to grow to maturity and furnish us the normal quantity of food it would afford us. It is the same with lamb. It is notorious that the butchers, wholesale and retail, seek the choice cuts for household consumption and market the rest with great difficulty.

Live Economically.

The talk of making large appropriations to distribute food as an emergency proceeds on a theory that has always been a failure.

I have just returned from Baltimore and the striking feature that interested me there is the market basket. In that city the market is four blocks long and on Saturday nights the workmen come from work with market baskets on their arms and thousands of women with baskets go to and from the markets every day. The majority go to the stores and buy direct, thus saving telephone and delivery service.

When ever we buy a simple article in a fancy package we are eating less food and more package for the same money. When we buy a pound of tea that we are ordering by telephone and for delivery by automobile we are paying for the telephone and the automobile. This means we are getting less for our money.

Improved Conditions.

The railroads, in conjunction with the interstate commerce commission, and by their independent exertions are doing everything in their power to relieve freight congestion and to obtain a redistribution of the cars so that shipments may move as rapidly as possible.

I am happy to say that this company and other western roads are feeling the beneficial effects being undertaken at Washington.

It is the policy and the purpose of the railroads to work most heartily in co-operation with the military authorities.

I have been selected to be chairman of the western committee of the roads, along with President Ripley of the Santa Fe and President Farrell of the Oregon-Washington Navigation Company, the other two members of the committee. In the west we have had the benefit of co-operation already with Major-General Franklin K. Bell and his able staff in the mobilization of troops, along the Mexican border. Details of the work of the committees have not yet been developed. The railroads will do everything they can to be responsive to the needs of the military arm of the government.

DYNAMITERS' PICNIC A RUSE DECLARES S. F. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

District Attorney Charles Fickert of San Francisco, speaking before the convention of district attorneys at Fresno, declared that the bomb murders were to have taken place on the Fourth of July last, but that the plans of the anarchists miscarried. He said that a picnic was held in San Mateo county on July Fourth by the radicals, and if the murders had been staged the real perpetrators would have set up their presence at the picnic as an alibi. But the plans did not turn out as expected, according to the San Francisco district attorney, and the "Preparedness Parade Day" was taken as the next best opportunity. Fickert declared that the evidence in the three cases to be prosecuted is as startling and conclusive as it was in the two cases that have been prosecuted successfully.

The explosion on the brow of San Bruno mountain, between South San Francisco and San Bruno in San Mateo county, was referred to by the San Francisco prosecutor.

District Attorney Franklin Swart of San Mateo county is taking a prominent part in this convention.

INSANE MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE WITH BIG KNIFE

Joe Bacigalupi, a vegetable worker of Pedro valley in the north end of the county, made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life Sunday by stabbing himself with a large butcher knife. He inflicted three ugly looking wounds in the upper part of his body, one of the knife thrusts penetrating the left lung. When found by Constable S. A. Landini of the first township, Bacigalupi was suffering greatly from loss of blood. He was taken to the South San Francisco General Hospital, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Dixon of Daly City. He was afterward brought to this city.

The man is evidently insane. He told the officers that he was being chased all the time by his enemies and in order to save himself decided to commit suicide.

SINGLE TAX AGAIN MEETS WITH DEFEAT

Acting upon the request of the San Francisco real estate board, the Chamber of Commerce has placed itself on record as opposing the single tax, which would cause confusion. The proposition has been turned down by the leading civic bodies throughout the land.

SAN MATEO COASTLINE TO BE DEFENDED BY AIRCRAFT.

Reports from Washington are that the fortifications decided on for the Pacific coast would be composed largely of guns known as anti-aircraft guns. Among the new fortifications that have been provided is a small fortress at Rockaway Beach on the coastside of San Mateo county. In the original plan Rockaway Beach was to be armed with 6-inch guns and Halfmoon Bay with 16-inch guns. The fortification of the latter point, which is near Rockaway Beach, was postponed by congress.

This week advices were sent to California that anti-aircraft guns might be substituted for the 6-inch and 16-inch guns that were planned for the new coast defense scheme. The larger fortresses, it is said, will have war planes to do scout work.

The new $35,000 hospital, which is to be erected on Grand and Spruce avenues, will not be operated as a private institution, but will be a stock company affair.

Stock will be placed on the local market, and the hospital will be conducted by a superintendent appointed by the board of directors.

Information along these lines was received by the Chamber of Commerce from Dr. F. S. Dolley, who explained the plans of the hospital to the members.

Dr. F. Holmes Smith of San Bruno will be one of the directors. Dr. Dixon and Dr. Rankin of Daly City will also be interested in the new hospital.

BAUER WORKING HARD FOR ANNEXATION OF COUNTY.

This is what Hamilton A. Bauer, leader of the Greater San Francisco movement, has to say on San Mateo consolidation at the present time:

"Two weeks ago I began to circulate through friends of the consolidation movement a petition asking the legislature to pass the bill giving to the people of San Mateo county the right to vote upon the proposal. To overcome this, the opposition has circulated a counter petition, which is a most deceiving communication. The authors state that they do not oppose annexation. It is very evident from the petition that after canvassing the county the opponents of consolidation learned that a majority of the people favor the merger. It then became necessary for them to do something to delay the matter, and this movement is the result.

"The misleading part of it comes from the lack of knowledge upon the part of the people generally as to what is meant by borough government. Under the New York charter, which divided the greater city, with a population of six millions, into five boroughs, the entire government is centered in but one set of officials with departments in each borough. The local and minor matters of improvements are handled by what is known as districts of local improvements.

"The scheme advocated by the Preservation League of San Mateo county absolutely defeats consolidation. It would create in each little town the same local government which exists now, and over each the administration officials of the greater city would have no control.

"It may readily be seen from this that the autonomy matter is buncombe for the sole purpose of deceiving the people by those absolutely opposing consolidation. In other words, they are climbing aboard the ship in the guise of being friendly to consolidation, with the one and only purpose of scuttling the consolidation ship while the people are asleep."

CLAIMS SAN MATEO TAX AGAINST MERCHANTS TO BE ILLEGAL

Norman E. Malcolm, attorney for the Palo Alto Merchants' Association, has declared that the merchants of Palo Alto not only have a right to deliver goods in San Mateo county, but that they also have a right to take orders from their customers.

He said that he and several other Palo Alto attorneys have interviewed District Attorney Franklin Swart in Redwood City.

The cases of Oscar Johnson and M. J. Fairfield, arrested recently while delivering goods in Menlo Park, come before Judge Seely of Redwood City. Malcolm is defending them.

When interviewed, Malcolm said:

"Under 3366 of the political code of California the boards of supervisors of the state are deprived of the power to license business for revenue. This law was passed in 1901. The supervisors may license for police regulation only. This does not apply to incorporated cities with charters, which may license for both revenue and regulation. The merchants within San Mateo county itself have been paying a license to do business when they didn't have to."

ADVOCATES EXEMPTION OF PERSONAL TAX ON MOTOR CARS.

County Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney has returned from Oroville, where he attended the tax collectors' convention of the state, held in that city. McSweeney reports the convention one of the most successful yet held, there being over fifty representatives present from the various counties of the state.

The delegates went on record as opposing the single tax proposals of the state tax commission and the proposal to remove constitutional restrictions on raising of state revenue, vesting full power in the legislative instead.

The convention voted favorably on a proposal to exempt automobiles from local taxation, and also personal property not used for commercial purposes.

The tax collectors unanimously endorsed the 5 per cent limitation tax law, a bill proposed by the state commission, which if passed will make it impossible for the supervisors of any county to increase the tax rate of the county more than 5 per cent in unincorporated districts.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Visalia.

McSweeney was honored by the convention by being elected chairman of the legislative committee.
